SAN FRAN

1850 1950

One hundred years ago, the bustling turbulence of America provided a fabric through which a new brand of Franciscanism began to make its way. In 1858, from Roundstone Monastery in Ireland, Brothers John McMahon and Vincent Hayes disembarked at New York. By their endeavor, the community of teaching Brothers who now make up our faculty was founded. The 1958 San Fran proposes to acknowledge a century of educational service on the part of these Franciscans by tracing their growth against the background of America. They adopted this National Heritage to be their own, and through it their work was accomplished.

A nostalgic view, coincident with the centennial year, is the first home of the Prep on old Butler Street standing in ruins as plans for future constructions move forward. After ninety-five years, Prep moved to its new quarters in 1953.

DEDICATION

Tintoretto's ST. FRANCIS IN ECSTACY from the collection of Robert Lehman.

. . . to St. Francis of Assisi, whose intercession through a hundred years has upheld us; and whose influence, in some unsubstantial yet certain way, has sifted down the centuries and settled upon each student of St. Francis Prep.

CENTENNIAL

PRINCIPAL'S

"Length of days" was biblically understood as a sign of God's favor. We hope not to be presumptuous in so interpreting the preservation of our Order through these hundred fluctuating years, a few of which were indeed disquieting. We would presume further to predict that an unprecedented expansion of Franciscan work lies in the near future. The surprising statistic of five new foundations in the last four years is one fact that leads us to this surmisal.

ANNIVERSARY

MESSAGE

Providence disposes all things for a reason. Consequently, the student body on this centenary occasion should be distinguished from the thousands gone before. May that distinction consist in your continued association with St. Francis as fellow laborers with us in the great work that seems imminent.

Specifically, we would hope that some may make the heroic contribution of religious vocation, that many might lend their personal service, and that all will include us in their prayers.

A CENTURY OF

Two lands separated by the wide Atlantic struggled against internal confusion in the year 1858.

On the one hand, seething disputes between North and South led the wise men of America to realize that an eruption was imminent; Indian raids still posed a serious problem in the West; and as a whole, the Nation avidly followed the Lincoln-Douglas debates. Then across the sea, Ireland was poverty-stricken and depopulated because of earlier potato famines; absentee landlords were tyrannical; and religious persecution was rampant. This was the state of affairs when newly-appointed Bishop Loughlin of Brooklyn requested educators from Ireland to help in the work of his Diocese.

Help came from a group of Franciscans who had earned the name of "hedge teachers". This intrepid group moved their classes to the fields when their buildings were destroyed. At the sound of approaching redcoats, all hid behind "hedges" until the soldiers were out of sight. In May of 1858 two of these Franciscans arrived, and a few months later purchased an abandoned Protestant Church on Baltic Street to begin their work in the New World. After remodeling, with the Brothers housed in the basement, the doors of St. Francis Academy first opened in September of that year.

In the ensuing hundred years the meteoric rise of the United States to a major world power was like nothing the world had ever seen. Following the Civil War, America was caught up in a whirlwind of growth and activity. Railroads sprawled across the land. While the country was left aghast at such tragedies as the massacre of General Custer, the blizzard of '88, and the great Chicago fire, new States were carved out of the western frontier. Four wars engulfed us, the Spanish-American War, two World Wars, and the Korean conflict. Each illustrated our resistance to oppression. Science was not left behind in the race, for this country was responsible for such varied innovations as the benefits of electricity, Henry Ford's "tin lizzie", barbed wire, radio, television, the movies, bathtub gin, and the subway system, to name only a few.

This germ of expansion was also carried forward by the Franciscans. A year after the opening of the Academy, the Brothers staffed St. Joseph's on Dean Street. As the years rolled on more schools were founded–St. Paul's, Our Lady of Mercy, St. Michael's, Immaculate Conception, St. Charles. Perhaps the most startling of their foundations occurred in 1888. Then was held a soap coupon drive to end all coupon drives. When it was over Mr. Kirkman was building a new factory and the Brothers had named their newest premium Camp Alvernia. In sum, over forty educational institutions provided the channels through which the work of the Brothers was accomplished.

America and Franciscanism have fused over these hundred years. One complemented the other, for as the United States grew, so Franciscanism was supported and extended. And with the spreading of Franciscanism came the spreading of the Christian Philosophy which shares the very ideals on which our democracy is based. Thus its teachers served as a bulwark for America by preserving and spreading the essence of our Constitution, and by planting righteousness in the hearts of its students, the future citizens and leaders of our Nation.

Environment and time shape many things. This is surely true of educational forces. Thus, the impact of the learning imparted to our Graduates is deeply involved with America and a hundred years. It is fitting then, that they be presented in company with the twin-forged influences which have, to a great extent, made them what they are—namely, Franciscan Education and the pageant of our Nation over this past century.

1858. Two communications between the Old and New Worlds were established. One, the laying of the Atlantic Cable by Cyrus Field and his ship the Atlantic, was accompanied by great fanfare. The other, two Franciscan Educators departing from their monastery at Roundstone in Ireland for America, was accomplished quietly. Both contained the germ of worthy achievement, one materially, the other spiritually.

1858. The Brothers' first foundation at 300 Baltic Street was called St. Francis Academy. As they worked with serenity toward their goal of equality for all before God, the Abolitionist John Brown was executed. He professed an identical purpose but the means he employed was a fanaticism that ended in only animosities.

1860. Amid the discord of the States locked in Civil War, the monastery property on Butler Street was purchased. Now the Fraternity could move from their uncomfortable living quarters in the damp basement of the Academy. Thus, during this conflict that threatened to sever human bonds, paradoxically, a spirit of hope and unity was intensified among the Franciscans.

1865. America mourned the death of Abraham Lincoln. In perpetuating the vision and ideals of the great Emancipator—ideals which, of course, paralleled their own so closely—the Brothers opened St. Mary's School on Court Street before the close of the decade. After eighty-nine years it is still staffed by the Franciscans, and as such holds the claim of their oldest existing grammar school foundation.

1871. St. Patrick's on Kent Avenue opened in an era seemingly uneducated to the Christian concept of human dignity. Rumblings between capital and labor rose to open defiance. The Labor Reform Party, the Knights of Labor, the Socialists, and the Communists all expounded paths to Utopia. Unrest, as that instigated by Communists pictured above on New York streets in the 1870's, heralded a problem unsolved to our time.

1880. Educational pioneering came with emphasis upon commercial courses at the Brothers' latest foundation on South Fourth Street, St. Leonard's Academy. Later the school moved to its present site on Brevoort Place. Historically, the last of the frontiersmen were pushing to the limits of the West with the consequence that American Society began to alter from its wild melting-pot characteristics. Franciscans and the Nation gradually settled into an increasing homogeneity.

1886. Since the preceding twenty odd years the total number of farms in the country had doubled. Conscious of their position in the National Economy, farmers banded into orders like the Farmers' Alliance. Impressed by the effectiveness of labor unions they fought to win comparable victories for agriculture. Paralleling this growth of the Nation as a whole, St. Anthony's School became the newest star on the Franciscan horizon.

1888. Through funds collected from one of the greatest coupon drives that ever surprised Mr. Kirkman, the property of Camp Alvernia was purchased. It was located at what then seemed 'far off' Centerport, Long Island. But distances were shrinking. Along 163,000 miles of steel, 'iron horses' now operated over the Northern, Central, and Southern Pacific Railroads to complement the New York Central, Erie, and Baltimore & Ohio systems of the East.

1894. The establishment of Our Lady of Good Counsel coincided with a change in American foreign policy. Self-centered development of America was replaced by imperialism. The needless Spanish-American War followed acquisitions in Samoa and Hawaii. As Teddy Roosevelt and his cavalry devastated Cuban plantations he remarked, perhaps ignobly, "It wasn't much of a war, but it was the best war we had." America's flexing muscles were eager to show their strength.

1914. The world stood on the edge of the great World War when St. Francis Xavier was erected. The Franciscan message of charity among men rang out all too feebly as Nations aligned themselves into two camps and prepared for a brand of destruction such as the world had not yet seen.

1923. While one observer saw America as having ". . . too many people in too many cars in too much of a hurry going in too many different directions to nowhere for nothing" the Friars extended their work with the foundation of Our Lady of Lourdes. Ford's contraption changed a Nation's habits as 26½ million cars were registered by the end of the decade.

1926. The College of St. Francis built new quarters to facilitate the higher education of aspiring Catholic men. An example of achievement for them was Al Smith, the "happy warrior," who was well on his way to reaching one of the foremost positions in public life attained by an American Catholic layman. The old warrior is pictured here accepting the nomination of presidential candidate for the Democratic Party.

1929. A bustling American Economy wildly produced more goods than it could sell. The bubble of feigned prosperity burst in the great October panic when stocks declined 32 billion dollars from their face value. In sharp contrast, the Franciscan Order located a Novitiate for the religious training of postulants at Smithtown, Long Island. Here, oblivious to the external tumult, spiritual formation was underway in an atmosphere of peace and seclusion.

1934. The Chicago Centenary of Progress heralded a resurrection from the depression with amazing displays of American industry and inventiveness. Paralleling the Nation in its surge toward reconstruction, the Brothers erected St. Anthony's Juniorate which, in later years, was to double as Camp St. Anthony in the summer months.

1949. The second great war was over and a desperate world moved to avert another such catastrophe by joining together in the United Nations. Coincident with this event, the Friars, with the assistance of the late Bishop Molloy, moved toward better future training of recruits to their Order by establishing a new and spacious Novitiate at Wyandanch, Long Island.

1951. To meet the ever increasing demand of educating young America, the Brothers staffed St. Brigid's School in Ridgewood. Meanwhile, the Country held its breath as the Twentieth Century passed the half-way mark. For the third time since 1900 the sounds of war were heard. This time off the coasts of Korea.

1954. Former concepts of speed were shattered in a new era of jet aircraft when Pete Everest and the X-2 reached 1700 miles an hour in flight. As if in keeping with this new pace, Franciscan History here records the beginnings of their most rapid surge in making new foundations. Five schools were to be placed in their charge in the next four years. The first of these was St. Joseph's in Babylon.

1954. The need for education in moral responsibilities, such as that extended to students in St. Bartholomew's which was founded in this year, became glaringly apparent. A series of tests in atomic detonation revealed that man could now unleash the most dreaded potential force ever seen upon the earth.

1957. As the world recovered from the shock of strained Anglo-Egyptian relations, St. Aidan's in Williston was added to the ever growing list of institutions under the guidance of the Franciscan Brothers. America realized as never before that the earth had shrunk to a neighborhood. An incident on a seemingly remote strip of sand in the Middle East that went by the name of Suez, had brought us perilously close to another world war.

1957. The Brothers had just opened Notre Dame School in New Hyde Park when a new set of words were added to our everyday vocabularies. The Centenary Underclassmen 829 Underclassmen stand now in more or less embryonic stages of Franciscan Education. Probably all of them are aware that besides marking a milestone for our Brothers, the implications of several historical events in recent months were potentially world-shattering.

The San Fran presents the Underclassmen with a few unforgettable glimpses of contemporary America in this pivotal school year ending June of 1958 —a year whose offsprings will evidently press close to all of us for many years to come.

In recording the Underclassmen, we, the Class of 1958, remember as Freshmen . . .

The year was 1954, the month was September, and the event was the orientation of another group of new Prepsters. We were not the first such group and, certainly, we would not be the last. Yet, although few if any of us knew it, we represented a glorious milestone in the history of the Franciscan Brothers of Brooklyn. By the very fact of our presence on that late summer morn, we had earned the privilege of a Franciscan education and the unforeseen honor of being the Class of 1958, the centennial class of St. Francis Prep.

However, our treasured title was more easily pronounced than accomplished. As in many of life's problems, the barrier at first seemed insuperable. But, it was not long before we were convinced that the task was conquerable. It seems that the knowledge that others before us had succeeded, coupled with the gentle admonitions of certain faculty members, inspired us to work and pray. Well, suppose we turn back the pages of Father Time's register and sneak a peek at his notations. As the man says, "All events are as they were then—only YOU ARE THERE."

The bell sounded and the race was on. Standing before us was a man who looked like Antonino Rocca with glasses. His name escapes us, but someone said it rhymed with gentleness. Anyhow, the few seconds of silence were broken by a loud, clear, chorus of "-bam, -bas, -bat, -bamus, -batis, -bant." He said that they were verb endings. Most of us decided at that instant to be truck drivers, ditch diggers, or gunrunners. Surely, anything was better than Latin.

Adult, as well as juvenile delinquency, flares in a New York barber shop

But, it wasn't long before we caught on and soon afterwards some of us traded our cherished freedom for enrollment in the Academy of Minstrels and Mellow Sounds, that is to say, The Glee Club. "Membership is voluntary," they screamed as we were bagged, gagged, and dragged into the cafeteria. Some days it pays to play hooky. Truthfully, it was fun. Especially during the breaks, when we raided B.J.'s chophouse and ate the profits.

Soon we were introduced to certain traditional functions. Our first lesson in Franciscan charity was the weekly Propagation of the Faith collections. The second matter brought to our attention was the San Fran patron drive and, finally, everybody's favorite, the Curtis Magazine drive. During our stay in the school, these projects would never be too far out of sight nor out of mind. Not wishing to offend, we conformed to their principles.

Many things a freshman does are strange. Some feel it is because he is confused. High school, with its crossroads and pitfalls, is complicated to say the least. For a freshman, inquisitiveness finishes a close third to Godliness and cleanliness. Maybe that was the reason that prompted a certain one of our number to ask, "What's a snow-job, Brother?" We all learned a valuable lesson that day.

We certainly will remember the day that we officially met our football team's new coach, "Mr. Touchdown." Boy, did he shock us when he stalked from the rally because we wouldn't let him say more than two words. Later, however, the students apologized, and all was forgiven. Just to show there were no hard feelings, Mr. "TD" promptly led the team to the co-championship of the city and we heard him acclaimed "Coach of the Year."

Not that it really matters but, we were wondering if Brother 1¼ needs glasses. How could he stand in a classroom for five minutes and not notice the sneakers hanging from the ceiling light? Perhaps the spirit did not move him.

Of course, we have to mention an incident from our adventure with a former faculty member named Mister "MG". Needless to say, he was proud of his knowledge. One fateful day, though, he was confronted by a rollicking situation. "Mister MG, can you draw a squirkle?" —"What's a squirkle?"—"A square circle."

Well, things started to quiet down again until a humble soul decided to bring a friend to class. We can't remember ever seeing a teacher so terrified. It seems one of his charges carried a reptile into the room for want of something better to do. Finally, we dare mention the adventures of a certain English teacher (PAUSE HERE, BOW HEADS) and his class of would-be students. Some look back on the year and say, "He was hit with stale jokes, stale wisecracks, and stale lunch." Still fresh in our memories is the day on which he, when beseiged by two dozen paper airplanes remarked, "Who was the wise one who threw THAT one?" By the way, we wonder what happened to the guy who cut his period for three weeks?

Years from now, many of us will tell our grandchildren how we once spent a Latin period throwing water guns out the windows. As a result, Brother Navy never did find the implements of war he knew we had on us. It was really a close call. When two members of the faculty reported that we were carrying concealed weapons, it sounded too fishy when we denied the charges. But each member of the cast played his part perfectly and we managed to survive with only a twenty minute lecture on the Federal Reserve System. Chalk one up for us.

The acceleration of odd-term students highlighted and brought to a close the school year. Thus we moved to within one year of achieving our most coveted goal. Here, may we be allowed to foresake our originality and say (with apologies to St. John) that there are, however, many other things that we did; but if every one of these should be written, not even the world itself, we think, could hold the books that would have to be written.

Faculty And Administration

It has been said that Lincoln's government "of the people, for the people, and by the people" presupposed a populace interested in its government and educated to its duty. This patriotic ideal, however, does not rise up in young minds through sheer instinct. They must be instructed toward its fulfillment.

Through these hundred years, the administration of St. Francis has esteemed good citizenship as a counterpart of good education. Training which instills respect for authority, tolerance of viewpoint, and adherence to the principles of Christian Morality must always remain a great contribution to the American Commonwealth.

Science Department

Biology, physics, and chemistry constituted the offerings of the Science Department. Classroom lectures combined with many laboratory experiments introduced freshmen to the biological life of plants, insects, animals, and men. The course emphasized the study of structures, growth, reproduction, and deterioration. A year reprieve from science as sophomores was followed by junior chemistry where, amidst a web of test tubes, reactions of organic and inorganic compounds were observed as the basic laws of atoms and chemicals were deduced. Physics in the senior year rounded out the science program. Heat, light, sound, motion, magnetism, electricity, gravity, pressures, and an increasingly important introduction to atomic energy made up the physics curriculum.

English Department

The Administration and Brother Michael's 'progressive' education courses at NYU added a new look to Prep's English Department. Student's found speech instruction given emphasis in the elimination of a study period for that purpose, while another period a week was set aside for reading and reading guidance. Seniors tried their .hand at creative writing in a unit on short story compositions, as Juniors attempted more precise evaluations of mass modes of communication in the T.V. age. Notwithstanding the page-strewn corridors, the paper bound experiment with Norman Lewis' Word Power was successful to the extent that the text was formally adopted. The traditional studies of grammar, composition, and literature complemented the year's innovations.

Mathematics Department

Unless his name is Xavier or he plays the xylophone, a fellow doesn't have much use for the letter "x" until his arrival at the Prep. From then on, however, this previously inconsequential symbol takes on towering proportions. In elementary algebra it stands for the elusive unknown from mixture problems to vectors. In geometry its fame spreads through coordinates, lengths of tangents, and mean proportions. Finally, those who do not elect to major in math see it for the last time in algebra. The others, of course, continue to be haunted by it through trigonometry in its unending triangular solutions, and through advanced algebra in its quadratics, simultaneous equations, graphs, and motion problems. With solid geometry the end is in sight. There, under Brother Noel's fine teaching, about the only unknown that remains is the age of our beloved instructor.

Department Of Social Studies

Insight into the past combined with a critical evaluation of the present are the twin means whereby the History Department strives to develop informed citizens of the future. The sojourn into the past includes a review of the ancient Babylonian, Greek, and Roman civilizations; a consideration of the Middle Ages with emphasis upon the Crusades, the Reformation, and the Renaissance; and finally, a commentary on the significant events of modern history, namely the French Revolution, Napoleon, the unification of European Nations, the advances of science and industry, the World Wars, and the Peace Conferences. After this world survey, junior and senior students turn to the study of American life and institutions. Armed with the perspective garnered from their previous studies they are better equipped to estimate the place of America in the contemporary world.

Religion Department

Four years of religious instruction lead the Franciscan student to competent knowledge of the Mass, the Sacraments, the Commandments, the Old and New Testament, the History of the Church, and the Papal Encyclicals. Coordinated with this classroom work are opportunities to translate knowledge to action. In addition to the compulsory closed retreat for Seniors conducted at the Passionist Monastery in Jamaica, the entire student body attends retreat services annually at St. Vincent de Paul's. First Friday Mass, the Third Order, the Militants, and the accessibility of daily spiritual direction and Confession add further to the maturity of the spirit.

From the pulpit of St. Vincent's Church, Father Fink of the Franciscan Order opens the school year with an exhortation toward spiritual and intellectual efforts.

Department Of Languages

Classical and modern language backgrounds were presented in a four year sequence in Latin and a three year sequence in French. After hurdling the spade work of basic grammar and vocabulary, students were led to the pleasurable territories of world literature. Through a special French version of Verne's classic, they followed Phileas Fogg and Passepartout in their wild gamble to round the world in eighty days, while views of Lyons, Paris, Strasbourg, and Marseilles came to focus in deSauze's Charles Va En France. Latin scholars first stood with Aeneas at the prow of his ship as he fled from Trojans with the remnant of his people; and then they accompanied Jason, armed with Medea's magic, in his quest for the Golden Fleece. These selections, and other literature, provided their own rewards for the study of languages.

REV. BROTHER FELICIAN, O.S.F.
Director

Much taller by far than most
Diligence in his work is far from a boast

In effect, this year's innovation of the home room period made each member of the faculty a member of the Guidance Department. Before the beginning of formal classes, a half hour was devoted to discussions on educational, vocational, personal, and social questions that faced students. Meanwhile, of course, Brother Felician and Brother Blaise were carrying on their personal interviews and administering their battery of tests which included the Iowa Test of Educational Development, the California Test of Mental Maturity, the Kuder Vocational Interest Test, and the College Scholastic Aptitude Test. Rounding out the guidance program were four Parent Forums, a Career Day, a College Night, and an Educational Forum.

Athletic Department

High bars, chin bars, climbing ropes, graded calisthenics, and supervised competitions in basketball, volleyball, and handball were the means whereby Brother Cyprian's Athletic Department kept Prepsters in condition. Like some eager adherents to Juvenal's "Mens sana in corpore sano", Brother Owen and Mr. Booras handled the direct supervision. Besides classes restricted to the gym period, physical development was encouraged further with a varied intramural schedule. As usual basketball and handball got the biggest play but increasing numbers signed up for the tournaments in bowling, handball, and track. The cooperation of faculty members outside the Athletic Department accounted for much of the success of the intramural program.

Administration

The year of the Asian flu and subway strikes, added to the perennial transport breakdowns, homesickness, and colds that plague the attendance office. But Brother Becket, the latest comer to the Administration Department, made it through the year admirably—except for the fact of a few new-cropping grey hairs. Elsewhere in the office, Mr. Pandolfi and his jovial assistants, Miss Gallagher and Mrs. Cassidy, found that last year's acceleration program had somewhat lightened their heavy burden. Paper work was cut down with only one class a year entering the Prep and with the need for only one set of final exams. Besides some prolonged mutterings by Mr. Frank Martin, brought on by the seige of bad weather that tracked up his floors, administrative affairs rolled along smoothly.

Students were particularly happy about the new provisions for seats and the music piped through the cafeteria. Library

The year 1958 marked the completion of a renovation project for the library furniture that began five years ago. New ashwood chairs and tables, display cases, and magazine racks facilitated the 15,000 item circulation from among the Library's 8,000 volumes and 60 newspapers and magazines. The annual book fair, sponsored in cooperation with the English Department, saw Prepsters purchase over a thousand paper bound books. These activities were directed by Mrs. Berry who was assisted by Mr. Farrington before and after school hours, by Brother Cosmas with the morning classes and by Brother DeSales for the afternoon classes.

Mike Giacinto, Tom Gowrie, and the Council completed a year characterized by solidifying or improving upon the work of previous Councils. The magazine drive, dance attendance, and student support at sports events have, for some time, been the duties of the Council. But this year saw the magazine collections rise to an unprecedented high, the dances jammed, with standing room only, and sports events bolstered by the cheers of Prepsters as never before. Remember the 7,000 attendance at Chaminade Bowl with students peeping through tree perches and dangling from garage roofs. At this writing, their few innovations included progress toward dates for seniors at the boat ride, a prom and graduation supplement for the yearbook, and a senior day.

The two hundred members of the Department climaxed a year's work at football games, parades, dances, and choral performances with their fourteenth annual concert held at the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Friday evening, May 16th. The first half of the concert was formally conducted by the instructors and included selections from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and Victor Herbert's March of the Toys. The second half was taken over by the student musicians. The dance band beat out a polka and a top hit, the piano ensembles featured Bizet's L'Arlesienne Suite, and the choristers sang the Russian Hospodi Pomiliui. Then, in commemoration of the Brother's centennial year the group reviewed the music of the theater over the past hundred years from the Pinafore down to My Fair Lady. Ravel's Balero closed out the program.

A significant addition to the Department provided students with one Regents Credit through special classes in music theory and education under the tutelage of Mrs. MacDonald.

Churchill's remark that the war was won on the "fields of Eton" appraised the link between . . .

War and Sports

The horrors of war as captured by George Gross in his painting The Ambassador of Good Will, must, unfortunately, be part of each nation's heritage. Four such conflicts have engaged our country since the coming of the first Franciscans, and each of them was supported by men of St. Francis. Their duties called for loyalty, courage, teamwork, and stamina—the very virtues associated with athletics. Dixon, Cooney, Gleason, Zawalok, Quigg, Stith, and Ratkowski name but a few nationally acclaimed athletes developed at Prep through the years. In accord with Churchill's premise then, we regard our sportsmindedness as an asset to the well-being of America.

A happy coincidence with the centennial celebration was Prep's long-awaited undefeated and untied football season.

Rain and wind accompanied the inaugural 27-0 victory over Iona with Armstead, Devlin, Van Cott's arm, and White's running and blocking leading the way. Then Brooklyn Prep's undefeated bubble exploded in the wake of a Terrier onslaught that now made preparations to meet top contending Mt. St. Michael. A tight 6-6 first half was followed by a sensational display of offensive power as Prep scored 46 points in the next 24 minutes. Next, despite the recall of four touchdowns, Hayes still crumbled to a 31-7 loss. Stepinac and St. John's were the fifth and sixth victims as Devlin, Van Cott, and D'Esposito provided the scoring punch.

Now the stage was set for November 24th. Chaminade and Prep met for the C.H.S.F.L. Championship. The Flyers scored first, but Devlin's 26 yard end run equalized things. Chaminade's attack was thereafter stymied by the great line of Giacinto, Armstead, Murphy, Hall, McCabe and Connolly. Then Cooney ran the opening kick-off of the third quarter for a touchdown. Chaminade came back on a long pass play and the game was deadlocked until Van Cott, with a key block from Alcuri, went 73 yards on an option play for a score and the game winning touchdown.

Jay Vee Takes All But One

For the second consecutive year the Jay Vee fell short of a perfect record by the margin of one game. And once again the loss was the result of a one point difference in score. St. Peter's 14-13 victory was the single deficit for this fine squad which had the distinction of the first Jay Vee to beat Chaminade. Brother Owen and Mr. Bonelli again coached this scoring juggernaut that rolled up 234 points to their opponents 39. Spadola, Rossi, Cohen, Armstead, and LaGiglia spearheaded the Marauders offense and defense throughout the year.

Finest Frosh Record

Five wins, two losses, and one tie for the year compiled the best record for a Frosh team at St. Francis. In addition this was the first Frosh squad to defeat Chaminade. Brother Fabian, the moderator, and Mr. Monaghan and Mr. Milaccio, the coaches, gave particular praise to Ed Mancini in the backfield, and Tom Feola and Joe Lachowicz in the line.

Jumping Bobby Jenkins, backed up by Joe Tuohey and Bill Shin, were not enough to stop Carrino (15) and Hall (14), the big guns of Molloy's attack. This last and crucial game of the season was lost 66-56.

Basketball Kingdom Falls

For any other school except St. Francis, which over the past five years had captured five consecutive Brooklyn Championships, 1958 would be considered a successful season. But despite a respectable fifteen won and four loss record, Terrier hearts were sad and gray with the close of the basketball season. An unforgettable golden era had come to an end.

The season opened with a heart breaking loss to Augustine 53-52. Recovering themselves the team swept on to five straight wins until Molloy smothered them 69-55. Down but not out of the running, the Terriers came back with eight more strong victories in a row. Then again the slick and experienced St. Ann's squad that had plagued them for years, and that now went by the name of Molloy, had to be met. Bob Cahill's great offensive scoring of 21 points and his defensive clamp on Willie Hall were tremendous but not adequate as Al Carrino took up Willie's slack to score 22 points and down Prep 66-56 in the season finale.

In post season play St. Francis lost the quarter finals to Manhattan in overtime. The game ended in a 47-47 tie but a foul was called. The Manhattan man missed his first shot, then sank the second to close the issue 48-47. Out of the City Championships Prep entered the Private School Tournament where they easily took the title by a 51-35 walkaway over Du Bois.

Outstanding player of the year was Bobby Jenkins whose talents earned him a starting berth on the CHSAA All Star Team.

Jay Vee Hoopsters Slip To Fourth

A record of five wins against seven losses gained fourth place in the CHSAA Brooklyn League for Jay Vee Basketball. Single losses were absorbed from Molloy, Augustine, and Loughlin, while Chaminade and Trinity belted the Terriers twice. Brightest stretch of the year came in the final five games where, in virtue of a terrific comeback, the team won four games. Unfortunately, maturity into the smooth working unit they developed into came too late to make their mark in the Brooklyn League whose title, last year, was taken by the Prep. Larry Pascal, Timmy Sullivan, Jim Sammon, and John Murphy were regular starters; Bill Ficke, Bob Krauss, and Tony Ottomano alternated as fifth man.

Hoop Power Looms With Frosh

A terrific crop of Freshmen hoopsters led by Jerry Strype, Bob Bruns, Bob Donohue, Terry Sgarlata, and Bob Torre gave great promise to future basketball hopes at St. Francis. Single losses to both St. John's and St. Augustine's were their deficits on a League record that read 8 wins against 2 losses. Final standings in the League gave them second place as the last game of the season saw them edged out of the Championship by a St. John's squad that the Terriers had beaten earlier in the season. For the second consecutive year Brother Blaise was the moderator, and Mr. Pat Gleason, the coach.

Prep swimmers of the future, the Freshmen, eye the flashy form of Nick Cirigliano, National Catholic Champion in both the 440 yard and the 100 yard events. His 4:30 time in the first and 53.8 time in the second established new records.

Swimmers Romp

Five titles fell to a powerful crew of Terrier tankmen in 1958. These include the CHSAA League Championship, the CHSAA Individual Championship, the Private School Championship, the Eastern Catholic Championship, and the Novice Championship. In two other meets the team placed second: the National Championships at Villanova, and the Harrigan Meet. Brightest light for Coach Tom Booras was mighty Nick Cirigliano who was never beaten in the fifteen events he participated in over the year. Nick set records in the 440 yard free style event at the National Championships, the Seton Hall Meet, and the Catholics. He was also the 100 yard free style National Champion. Right behind Nick were the great performances of Captain Tom Gowrie, John Langton, and Bill Blenk, neither of whom was ever beaten in League competitions. Then there was the exciting effort by Tom Blenk in the relay against Iona on which hung the CHSAA Championship. Tom's flutter foamed his way to a come-from-behind win which gave Prep the title. Bill Burchianti was ineligible in League Meets but held the relays together at invitational competitions. Frank Loughlin's butterfly was outstanding, while Ray Dudzinski of the Novice Team and Ken Zinkand of the Freshmen took the spotlight outside the ranks of the Varsity. Ken's father, incidentally, swam for Mr. Booras in the 1930's. Our Coach's years may be slightly showing but, obviously, without a sign of wear as far as producing championship squads is concerned.

12 Won, 3 Lost For Keglers

The 1958 bowling season was one of Prep's most successful. An outstanding record of twelve matches won and three lost placed the Terriers second in the Brooklyn-Queens division of the League. This earned them a berth in the City Championship play-offs. Prep took Cardinal Hayes in a thrilling contest 2261-2256 in the semi-finals, but was then overpowered by St. Michael's 2470-2420. Brother DeMontfort, who replaced Brother Leonard as moderator-coach in February, was at the helm in those final and crucial games of the season.

Cross Country

Asian Flu finally broke the track team's sensational string of victories at twenty-nine as the squad was forced to run their early meets only half staffed. Thereafter they went on to win the Private School, the Catholic, and the Eastern State Championship with the return of their full complement. Coach McHugh singled out the work of Dan Corry, Frank Hegarty, Joe Davis, John Finn, Walt Dugan, and Pat Cashin.

The Jay Vee followed in the footsteps of the Varsity by taking the Catholic Cross Country Championship for the second consecutive year, the Grout Memorial Run, and the Private School Championship.

Tom McHale started the season on the Jay Vee, but developed quickly to 6th man on the Varsity.

Trackmen Repeat As City Champions

Track Dinner with Father Cong, the Brother's Chaplain, addressing the team. Head Coach James McHugh and Brother Theodore, the Moderator, lend an ear.

Davis pass to Hegarty in 8:0 two mile relay run which gave Prep a first in Senior Meet Championships.

For the third time in the last four years, and for the second consecutive year, Prep's Indoor Track Team was crowned City Champions. They tore through 1958 without a single defeat. The Loughlin, Hayes, and our own St. Francis Meet registered the first three victories. It was at the second successful running of the annual St. Francis Meet that Finn, Corry, Davis, Prout, and Tony Armstead ended their four years of eligibility so were henceforth lost to the team. Here the depth of the squad became evident. Minus these point getters they nevertheless went on to sweep the Mayors, the N.Y.U., the Nationals, the Poly Prep, and the Catholic Championships. In addition the relay carnivals: the IC4A, the Senior Meets, and the NYAC were also Terrier dominated.

Over the season outstanding performances were delivered by Tynan and Hegarty in the half mile and thousand yard runs, while in the shorter 300 and 440 yard distances, the lightening quick sprinters, Armstead and Pinder, were consistent winners. Finally, in field events, Mike Giacinto added many points to Terrier scores.

The most spectacular victory of the year was, of course, the CHSAA Championship which climaxes the indoor season. Besides Prep's already accredited stars living up to advanced billing, the whole squad seemed inspired. Aaron, Thomson, Albertella, Williams, Perrin, Taylor, Johnson, Tom Armstead, Marco, Cashin, Dugan, and Lippermeier teamed up beautifully in the six lap, mile, and two mile relays to add to a bulging score. Alleyne in field events, Messina in the sprints, and Palumbo and Weber in the hurdles, also countered. When the dust had cleared St. Francis had overwhelmed all opposition with a 42 point total while their nearest rival, Stepinac, had registered 17.

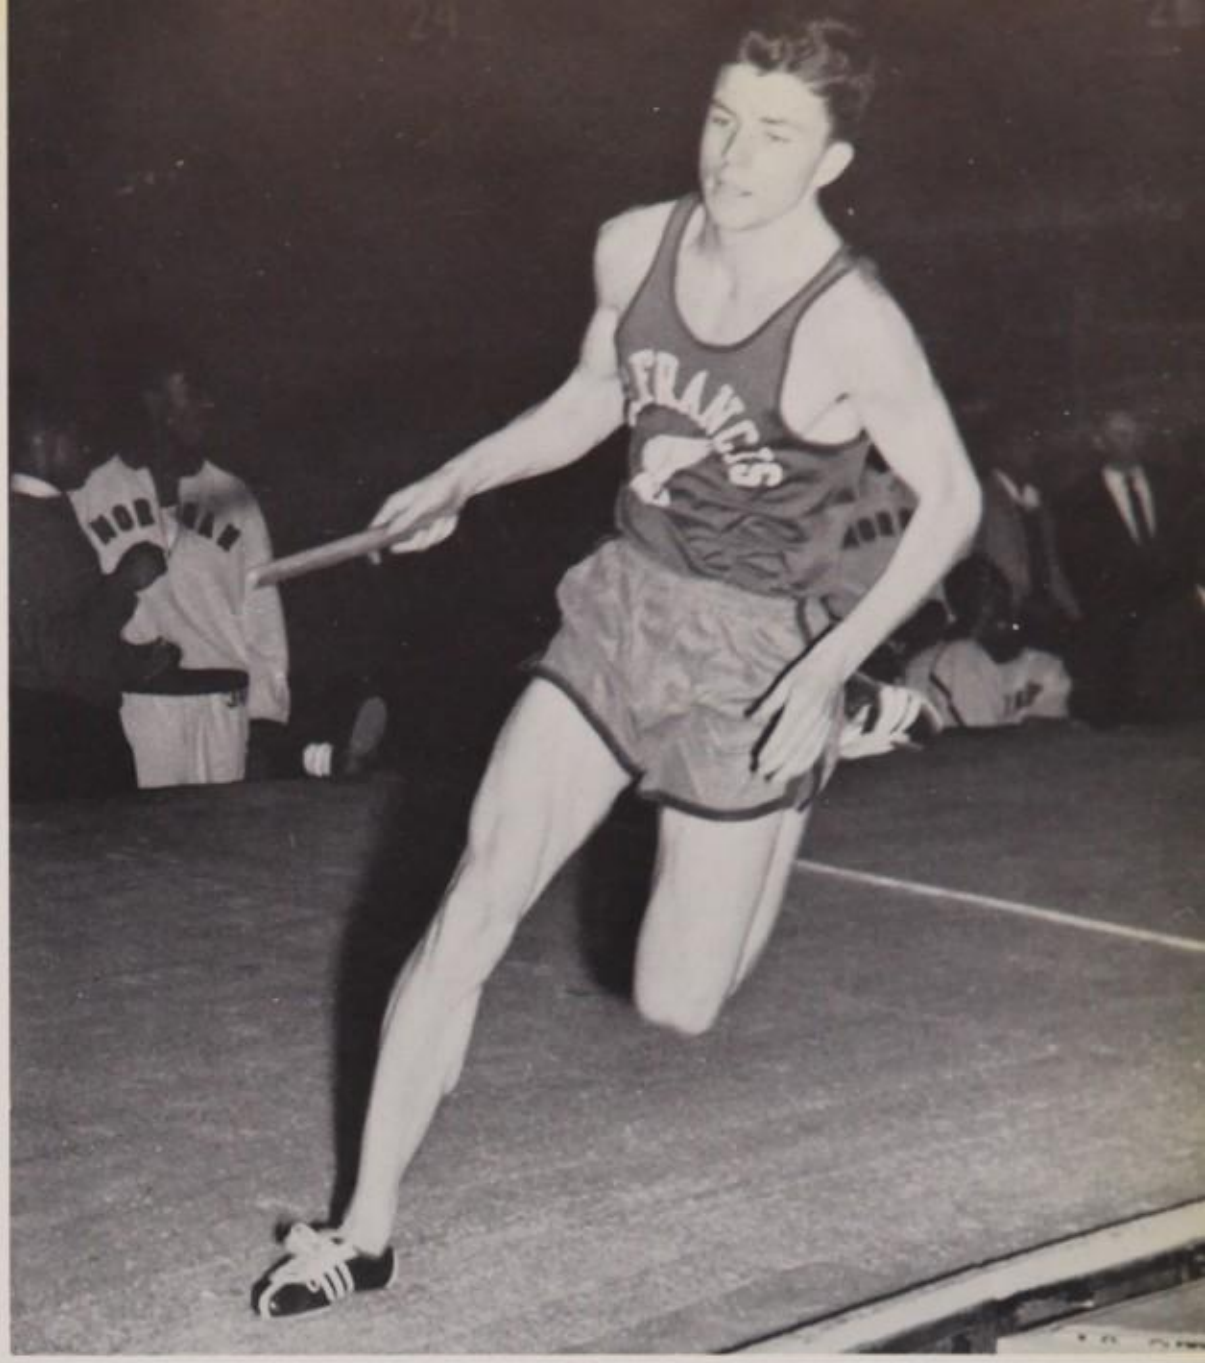
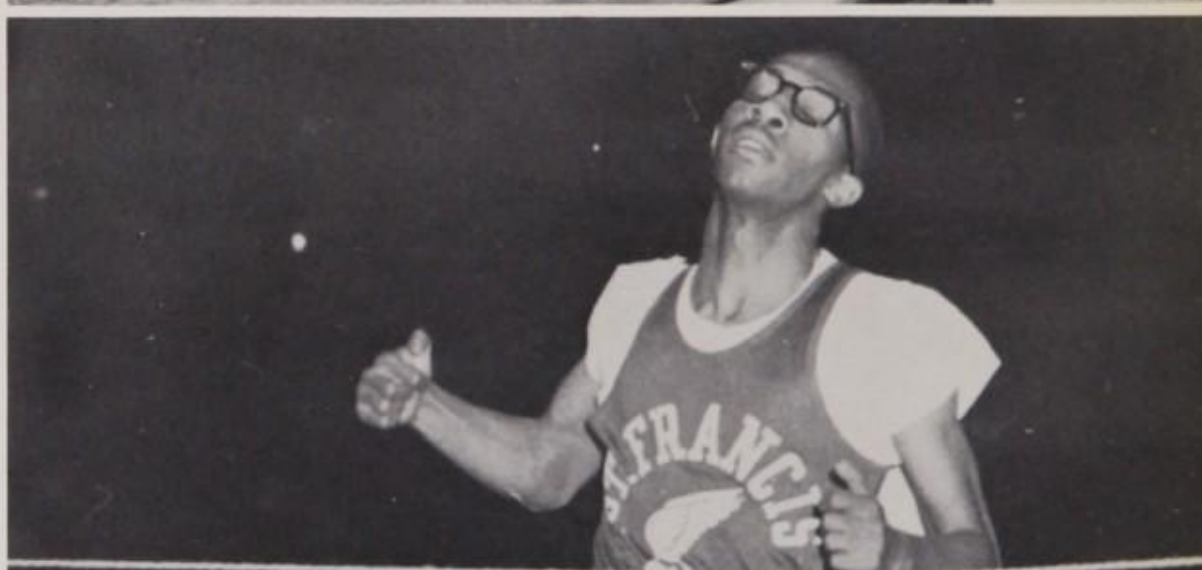
At Madison Square Garden in the CHSAA Championships, Ray Albertella winds up first in an initial heat of the six-lap relay event. His crew took fifth in the finals.

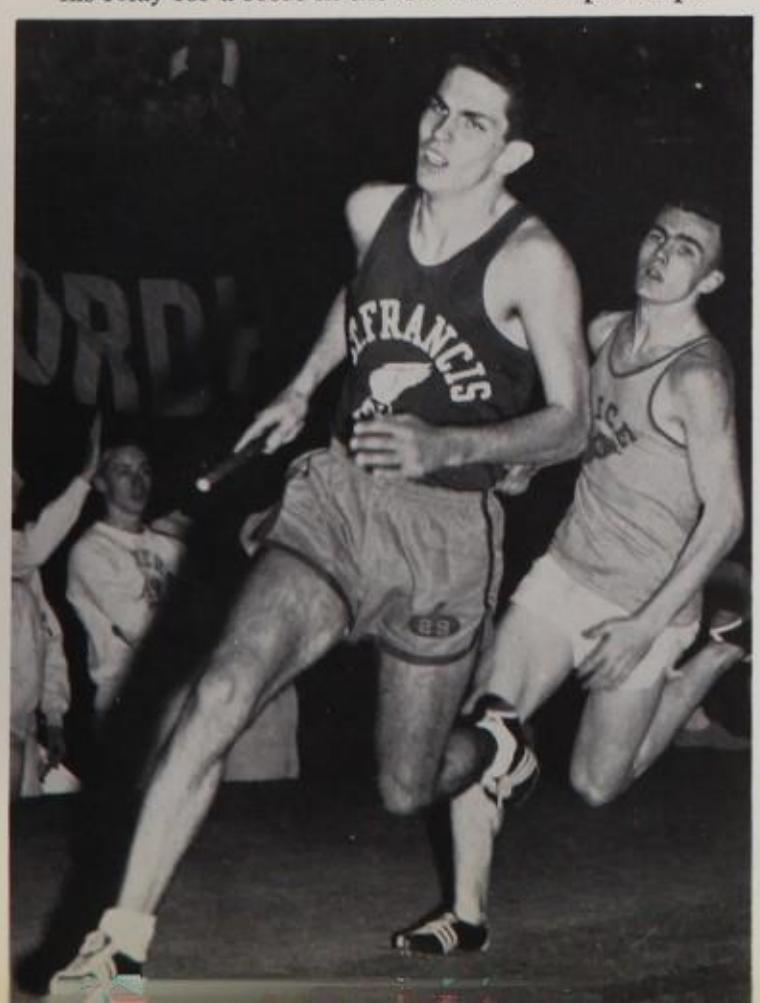
One of Prep's greatest performers over the year was Doug Tynan. At the N.Y.U. Meet held at the 102nd Armory, Doug zipped through the 600 yard run in 1:13.7 which established a new Eastern States Record for the distance. Another outstanding win was his 1:57.6 time for the 880 at the St. Francis Games.



Incomparable sprinter for St. Francis was Les Pinder. Here, as usual, he breasts the tape first in the Loughlin Meet held at the 102nd Armory. His time for the 200 yard dash was a sizzling 20.5. Later in the year Les was to run the anchor leg for the quartet who at Penn established a new record for the mile relay.



Veteran Joe Taylor running at the Garden winds up his indoor track career at the Prep by bringing in his relay for a score in the CHSAA Championships.



Chief point-getter in field events was burly Mike Giacinto. At the All Hallows Relay Carnival Mike flung the discus 139 feet and 11 inches for a first place and a new record for the CHSAA. Putting aside his discus for a shotput, he scored another first at the Catholic High School Carnival in combination with Tom Hall and Mike Lesniak. Mike's toss then was good for 55 feet and 10½ inches.

Bright spot in the Penn Relays was the Class Mile won by St. Francis. Here Tom Johnson hands off to Walt Dugan to begin the second lap. Joe Taylor and Mike Marco took the third and forth legs and eventual victory in 3:26.4.

Freshmen moderators, Brother DePorres and Mr. John Donovan, prime future Terrier stars in the fundamentals at Van Cortlandt Park practice session.

◀ Tragic race at Penn was the two mile relay when Pat Cashin took a spill. Pat got up, dug in, and here passes to Doug Tynan. Walt Dugan and Dan Hegarty finished up.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING. The National Record for the fastest schoolboy mile relay ever run anywhere came to St. Francis at the Penn Relays of 1958. Dan Hegarty, who was voted the Most Valuable Performer Award, has just clicked off a sensational first leg at 50.5. The crowd of over 40,000 roared to its feet as Joe Armstead shot off to a tremendous lead with a 48.7 quarter. Doug Tynan duplicated this time, and Les Pinder's final lap of 49.7 brought in an unparalled 3:17.5 mile. At this writing the young outdoor track season has seen Prep also take the Catholic High School Relays and the Queens-Iona Relays. These performances make them overwhelming favorites to annex the CHSAA Outdoor Championships run at the close of the season.

Arms and The Prep

It took ex-army sergeant Brother DeSales to do it, but Prep finally has its long awaited rifle team. Captain DiCello, the Commanding Officer of the Second Marine Corps Communication Center Armory, kindly overlooked Brother's former connection with the Army to the extent of not only permitting the use of his firing range but also appointing Sergeant Zeab as instructor to Prep's budding riflemen. The group registered with the National Rifle Association. Matches with Poly Prep, Chaminade, and La Salle were lost by St. Francis in their first attempts at interscholastic competitions.

◀ Rounding third to score in 8-0 win over Trinity is Terrier's leading batsman, catcher Bill Spraul.

Varsity Fighting Back To The Top

As of the second week in May the baseball squad was tied for second place with St John's. Archbishop Molloy, whom St. Francis whipped in its seventh game of the year, rode at the top of the League. The team started out with a bang by trouncing St. Michael's and Trinity, but thereafter the pitching failed as the Terriers took two losses in a row from Molloy and Chaminade. The outlook was dismal until the squad bounced back for three successive wins. Two of them were shut outs as the hurlers reasserted themselves.

Joe 'Toots' Torre and Bob Bruns loom as the one-two punch from the moundsmen. Bob, besides hanging up two wins, plays the outfield in other games and is batting over .300 – a rare freshman indeed. Cooney, Anterio, and Welch round out the pitching staff. Their talent is the question mark in Prep's drive for the elusive Baseball Championship, the one crown they have never won.

As usual Prep batting is strong. Bill Spraul and Bob Cefalu sport the fabulous averages of .690 and .685 respectively. Together they have rapped four home runs and accounted for 17 RBI's. Right behind them are Tom Mulhearn at .467 and Joe Torre at .333. As for the rest of the starters, all anticipate the known potential of veteran Joe O'Brien to shake loose; and young Bob Krauss at short and Mike Agnes at first, both fresh up from the Jay Vee, have handled themselves well afield but as yet have not shown mastery over Varsity pitching.

The road to the title will be tough. Prep hurlers must hold off a hard hitting League for nine more contests. They will not get much rest, for heavy April rains force a jammed schedule from here on in. But even this will not be enough. Another team will have to take the Stanners to equalize the two losses Prep has itself absorbed to date.

Midseason—Jay Vee Undefeated

A great fielding and pitching team, which just started hitting in its fourth game with Xaverian, seems a solid bet to take the CHSAA Jay Vee Championship. The first two games were thrilling 1-0 affairs with the Terriers winning the first on three bunt singles and the second on only one hit. In their third game they were shut out until the last inning when somehow they racked up six runs on a grand total of three hits. Thanks to Ed Mancini (3-0) and Dan Henning (1-0) on the mound all opponents were likewise throttled in making runs. This combined with fielding of the calibre of Lou Alba flagging down shots at third as against St. John's, and Bill Hanley making diving catches in center as against Xaverian kept Prep in contention. Finally, an explosion occurred in game four. Led by Freshman Bob Donohue who batted in four runs, eleven hits including two triples and a double drove out three pitchers. Sgarlata, Strype, Bruce, Ottomano, Gazer, D'Amelia, and Tereskiewicz have made up the other regulars.

Frank Dene of 302, took on all comers in handball, as Joe Piscopo and Ed Checkett of 404 came in second and third. For the first time, golf was scheduled with over 20 registrants. Brother Cabrini's new swing into the spring golf program certainly challenges other warm weather sports with its attractiveness. Playing on Dyker Golf Course near Shore Road in Brooklyn, the Terriers enjoy pleasant country club surroundings. The squad is coached by Charlie and Dick Wagner. Both brothers are excellent golfers who shoot in the 70's and who have competed in several New England tournaments. And, as usual, at about the first or second week in June Brother Vincent will start tuning up his crew for competition in the Central Park Championships.

Pro Coach For Netmen

Brother Robert made the arrangements, and Brother Timothy approved the added financial expenses involved, for providing Prep's tennis men of 1958 with no less a coach than Len Hartman, the well known professional player. Another innovation of the year was practice sessions on the Sterling Courts in Flushing twice a week. Play upon the clay underfooting here was a new and welcomed experience for the netmen who, up to this time, had been restricted to the blister building asphalt of the McCarren Part Courts for all of their four weekly practices.

Forty aspirants applied for the team with the coming of the spring sun. The large number led to the establishment of a second or "B" team. The fifteen players making up the varsity or "A" team look to veterans Bill Murphy, Dave Layfield, and Charlie Hanson. Pete Swist and Bill Halpin stand out among the new recruits. Matches are scheduled in the Private School League, and the Forest Hills and Fordham Tennis Tournaments.

RANGE OF PUBLICATIONS

The evolution of America finds a parallel in the St. Francis program of . . .

Activities

Prep's activities are indeed a reflection of America. Their broad development could have been possible only against the backdrop of the New World. Do not the Flying Club, the Power Boat Squadron, and the Skin Divers recall a flair for pioneering? Then again, in another direction, no less than three outstanding publications provide ample channels for democratic student expression. The varied projects of the Galvani Society, ranging from satellites to electronics, mirror the scientific curiosity typical of our Nation. Finally, our boat rides, skating parties, proms, and dances designed to foster social development have, through the years, borne witness to such native vagaries as the Charleston, the Big Apple, the Lindy, and the Mambo. For better or for worse these are, nevertheless, segments of the spirit of America.

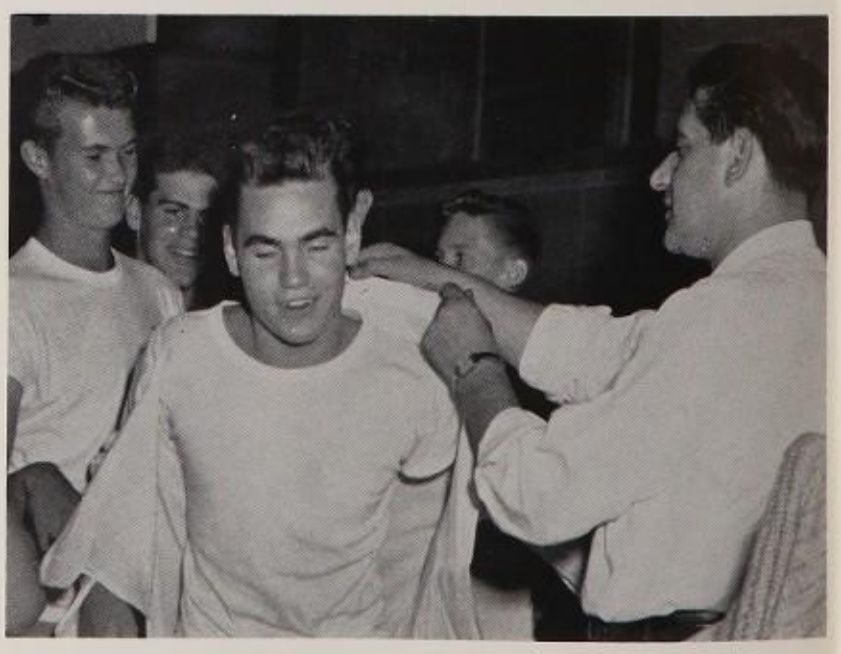
A Look At The Year In Review

On returning to school in the autumn of 1957, many omens forecasted the beginning of the end of Prep days for us, the Centennary Class of Seniors. We avidly flashed our senior rings and physics notebooks, and gorged down our lunch at 11:15 to flock to the gym with the elite. There, for a Senior, lunch time was light-up time. Early gab sessions revolved about the wondrous fact that the remainder of our high school days was no longer to be measured in years, but in months. And then soon . . . all too soon it suddenly seemed . . . we were left with only a handful of days.

The fiirst thing that caught our fancy as the school year got rolling was the team named desire, one of Prep's greatest football squads. Week after week they bowled over opponents, and week after week, a mad Rally Committee spurred us on with slapstick stunts that ranged from banana cream pies to water hosings. We sympathized with unhappy Hugh Mundy, symbol of our forthcoming rival and the usual target of the antics. About this time also, we were getting the feel of things scholastically with the newly arrived members of the faculty: Mr. Donovan, Mr. Keough, and Brothers Brendan, Arthur, DeMontfort, Norbert and Beckett. On reflection, it was amazing how soon we forgot the teachers who had been with us so long, and whom they had replaced: fiery Mr. Payne, resigned Mr. Toscano, voluble Mr. Reilly, and unperturbed Mr. Fiorenza — sic transit gloria mundi.

Some, but not all of the student body, were attentive to the pitch of Mr. Keane from the Curtis Publishing Company at the year's first assembly.



Realization that the end is near. Mr Malfetano assists Tom Yeager into a tux for the Senior portraits.

Ninette Caussig of St. Agnes' has John Mazzorana going in circles at Prep's first skating party of the year held at the Empire Rollerdrome.

St. Brendan's girls, typified by leaping Kay Murphy, again added color to the grid games.

◀ Chet Checkett has eyes only for Carol Clark. Their engagement was announced at the Alumni Dance, the first and one of the most successful dances of the school year.

As the first blasts of winter cut across the skyscrapers of New York, some of us had forebodings about whether or not our Prep career actually could be measured in only months – first report cards were issued and parental groanings were heard from many quarters. But optimism returned again in full swing as we were herded into the gymnasium one morning for graduation photographs. (So the faculty was only kidding . . . they wouldn't really keep us back at this late stage . . . or would they?) Anyway we were warned to return to class immediately after the photos were taken. It was ingenious how five minutes could be stretched into forty. Wonder if it had anything to do with the coffee and doughnuts we brought the photographer? And through it all we remember the tearful yet authoritative voice of Brother Owen thundering ". . . get off my gym floor with those dirty shoes."

By now, of course, the football team had tucked away the Championship and shattered all attendance records. Many wondered whether it was the team or the girl cheerleaders from St. Brendan's that drew the crowds. In other sports, the track and swimming squads were tremendous and easily took the City Championships. But for the first time in four years the basketballers did not win a title, and, later, what was thought to be a solid baseball squad, was floundering around the .500 mark as the San Fran went to press. Spoiled Prepsters? Who else could squawk about three City Championships out of the five major sports.

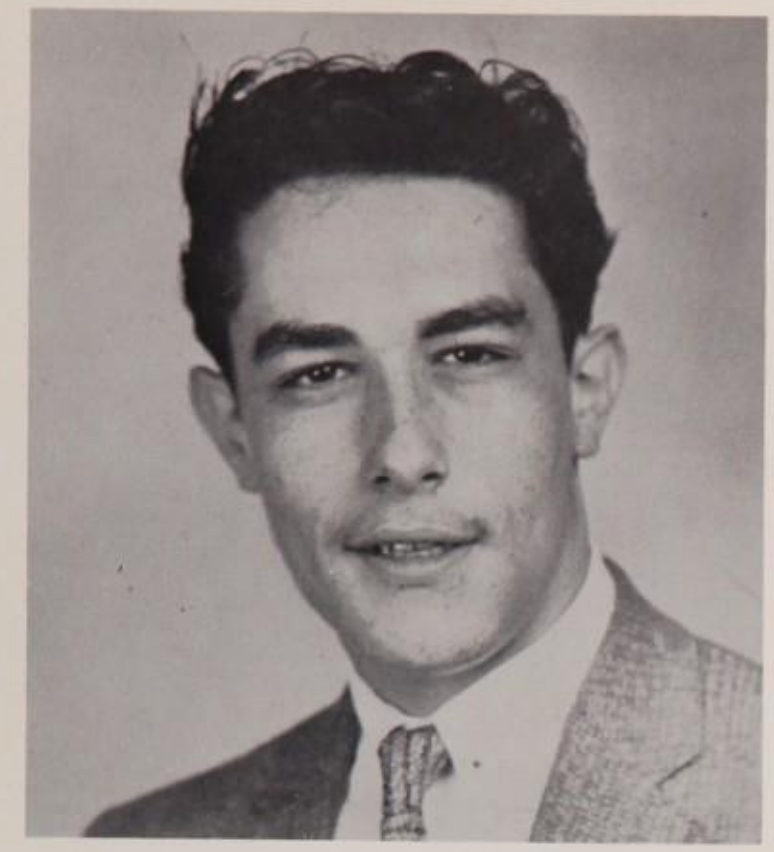
The last moments of school for the year 1957 were about to be sealed in oblivion when the Seniors issued their annual challenge to the faculty on the basketball court . . . probably, this was the first time a football game had been played there. The faculty won the game, but many a Senior got revenge.

With the new year underway, the faculty prepared a series of memorable expeditions for Prepsters. In line with a variety of changes in the curriculum, the English Department advanced the theory of visual aids. It took some time for the smoke of cap pistols to clear, and for our guardians to avert the danger of Juniors on the ground floor from going up in flames as a consequence of Seniors smoking in the balcony; but when it was over we had been given an insight into classical literature by viewing Laurence Olivier's production of Henry V at Broadway's Odeon Theater.

On April 9, the Prep bereaved the unforeseen death of Jim Kiley, one of its more personable and active Seniors.



Then the History Department sponsored a trip to the Nation's Capitol, Washington D.C. Under the ubiquitous eye of Brother Theodore, some ninty Prepsters toured the Senate, the Mint, the F.B.I. building, the Smithsonian, the Library of Congress, and a host of monuments. Such celebrities as J. Edgar Hoover, Sam Rayburn, John McCormack, and Congressman Rooney laid out the royal carpet for the men of St. Francis. Each student tried out the chair of the Speaker of the House of Representatives for size. Of course this was old hat for Norman (no pictures please) Liebman, who had previously served as Assistant Attorney General for a day as reward for his essay on Citizenship. Through snow and all we arrived home a tired but jolly crew with no casualties to report except a water-logged leg for Tom DiMattina.

The 17th of March was a beautiful day for a parade so we donned our best apparel and strutted up Fifth Avenue to honor the man who drove the snakes out of Ireland into England. It was a long hike and we might not have made it except for the encouragement received from a flood of female admirers who cheered us on. We advised our parents to watch for us on television, but on returning home were told that a Schlitz add had been injected just as the St. Francis contingent passed under the cameras. While we were honoring Hibernians, the Prep acknowledged Brother Charles' twenty-fifth year of teaching at the school. Seems like only yesterday that the good Brother was guiding us through the intricacies of Elementary Algebra.

Easter came, but the joy of it was suddenly curtailed by the announcement of the death of Senior, Jim Kiley. We returned to classes and tried to forget about it, but Jim's empty seat glaring at us remained as a never to be forgotten reminder of ultimate values.

Things wound up quickly after Easter. Sandwiched between the final surge to pass exams there were skating parties, dances, the Senior Prom, the Concert, our last boat ride, and finally, the retreat. Eeeeh! Remember Brother Benignus enforcing the voluntary no talking rule, and all the sleep that Brother Noel got in the serenity of the retreat house?

Thus we leave Prep with only one, rather inglorious distinction already ours – that of the worst attendance score on record . . . remember those insurmountable plagues, the Asian Flu, the subway strikes, and the snow blizzards. The future we see only in a very "dark mirror." But, seriously, we hope and pray that in view of our destiny as the Centenary Class we might somehow bring honor to St. Francis in return for the great privileges she has extended to us.

The year draws to a close as Seniors end their Prep days behind the walls of the Passionist Monastery in Jamaica on closed retreat.

An unprecedented number of fifteen students were enrolled on Brother Timothy's Principal List for 1958. The 95% scholastic average required for such listing explains the usually meager reservations. To those students whose minds and wills successfully worked toward this high level of scholarship, the San Fran here extends sincere congratulations.

Duns Scotus

Travelling through classes as speech teacher, Brother Regis, in his first year as moderator of the Duns Scotus Orators, has sifted out the best potential speakers in the school. The group aims eventually to make its weight felt in the major league of oratory, the Catholic Forensic Society. 1958 might be summed up as a year of preparation for this goal as Kevin Smith, Roland Damiano, and Vin Salvo competed in the K. of C. Oratorical Contest; Bill Murphy, and Martin Neville recited at the NYU Poetry Festival; and lastly, and most successfully, Dick Farley won honors at the B'Nai B'Rrith American Oratorical Contest for his recitation on "What Brotherhood Means To Me". Experience gained for the young orators in these competitions was invaluable.

Dick Farley, outstanding orator of the Club, performs before the critical eyes of Dick Russo, Martin Neville, Peter England, Pat Calhoun, Brother Regis, Tom Burke, and Bill Murphy.

Press Club

The ever-bulging scrap book of Press notices relating to St. Francis attest to this group's success in carrying out its function of keeping Prep in the public eye. The Club prepared publicity releases on such school functions as the St. Patrick Parade, the Franciscan Centennial Anniversary, publications awards, athletic achievements, and essay winners in interscholastic competitions. They appeared in the Tablet, Journal, Tribune, and, in particular, the Daily News which is undoubtedly New York's most widely read newspaper.

Both moderators attended the Syracuse Driver Education Convention to further improve instructions given to the thirty-five students registered for this course approved by the Motor Vehicle Bureau and the State Education Department.

In this the fourth year of operation, its contribution toward understanding is invaluable. The Smoker of November 25th, and the Communion Breakfast on Mother's Day highlighted the social affairs sponsored by the Guild.

Third Order

Prep's Third Order Chapter had a busy year in taking active part in all of the provincial activities of the Capuchin Third Order Province of St. Mary. These have included participation in the United Tertiary Pilgrimage for the Metropolitan Area held at St. Patrick's Cathedral in September; the National Third Order Congress held in Boston; and the Capuchin Anniversary Celebrations held at St. John's and at St. Michael's. Finally, on June 8th, the group attended a field Mass at Garrison, New York. At his annual visitation, Father Malachy O.F.M. Cap. commended Prepsters for directing their lives as laymen according to a Rule set down by St. Francis himself.

Preparations for Benediction made by Novice Master, Tom Gerald, and Vice Prefect, Walter Ulrich.

Poster Club

Paint, brushes, ink, and T-squares combined with some patience, poster boards, erudite Prepsters and a moderator form the ingredients of the Poster Club. Besides decorating the corridors for impending social, cultural, and athletic events, the embryonic artists contrived a celebration display for the Brothers' Hundredth Anniversary, aided in publicizing the Catholic Library Association, submitted posters for the American Automobile Association's safety drive, and encouraged vocations through the Tablet's annual poster contest. Thus, in sum, was Brother Arthur's first year as moderator of the Poster Club.

Skin Divers

The good ship Sea Queen, owned by Bill Burchianti the Club's president, carried these searchers of the sea to underwater expeditions at Long Island Sound and Beach Nine in the Rockaways. Although the group is a chartered member of the Empire State Council of Divers, Brother Alexis, the moderator, has judged it wise to withhold them from "SCUBA" competitions (Self Contained Underwater Breather Apparatus to the uniniated) because of lack of both experience and equipment. To date, snorkels, rubber suits, flippers, and spear guns make up the Club's inventory.

Eight students completed a course in flight maneuvers that included take offs, glides, dives, turns, climbs, and landing patterns. Joe Ponessa snapped this photo of the Blue Angels in one of their actual flights which follow detailed classroom instruction. For four years now, Brother Michael has drawn upon his experiences as a former Naval Aviator in World War II to bring this activity to students of St. Francis.

Latín Club

Prep's classicists tested their mettle by entering the Wisconsin National Latin Contest, the Auxilium Latinum National Latin Contest, and the Latin Translation Contest of the Catholic Classical Association of New York. Brother Vincent informs us that the certificates of honor garnered in these competitions over the past two years now numbers over a hundred. At this writing the results have not been received, but Bill Coleman, Jim Sammon, and Bob Magliano represented St. Francis at New York University's Latin Translation Contest. Pending likewise is the acquisition of the Auxilium Latinum Trophy which requires three first honors in three different years. George DeGeorge took the first leg, Pete Corrittori the second. and expectancy waits upon the third.

Militants

The Militants discuss modern problems in the light of Christ's teaching. Through this world wide organization, national prestige was brought to the Prep in August of last year when, at Lisle, Illinois, Vincent Salvo was elected National President. And locally, Kevin Smith was designated Vice President of the New York Chapter. Brother Blaise and Brother Cabrini, the moderators, have arranged that the Militants periodical journal on social and liturgical matters be distributed to students of the Prep. St. Francis was host to the New York Federation on February 16th of this year, and for three days during Easter Week the Prep Chapter attended the Convention at Garrison, New York. Frank Campion served as school representative for 1958.

A brilliant flash of light, the rising of a white mushroom cloud and the young scientists of the Galvani Society have detonated another atom bomb!

Awesome as it sounds, it's just one of the Society's many dramatic ways of demonstrating the wonders of modern science its members are dedicated to explore. On almost any afternoon, you'll find their lab aglow with vivid experiments in the world of electronics, nuclear physics, biology and chemistry. And to round out the program, field trips, museum tours and lectures by prominent outsiders are arranged for the members. The dazzling General Motors show they sponsored at the Prep this March was an example of the range of their interests and activities.

Little Portion

The quick-blossoming quality of Prep's Literary Quarterly Magazine took its place beside the best of student publications in 1958, its second year of existence. A winter, fall, and spring issue featured respectively: Norm Liebman's Student Conceptions of Art, John Chierico's History of Jazz, and Norm Liebman's A Day in the Life of a Religious. Chief among the other creative contributors were Ron Klammer with short stories; versatile Frank De Caro with poems, short stories, and essays; and lastly, John McDermott and Martin Neville with art work.

The right man for the right job. The range of Brother Brendan's talents comes into focus as he checks Tom Gerald's translation of Andrea Chenier's poems for publication in the Little Portion. The publication has taken on new life in this, Brother's first year as moderator.

Photography Club

At weekly meetings, Brother Mario and his group of photo bugs fumbled along in the darkness of the basement lab while perfecting their technique in black and white enlargements. Rather than taking photographs, the Club this year emphasized development and other laboratory phases of photography. The skills gained from manipulating the maze of tanks, trays, frames, chemicals, the Oneida Enlarger, and the electric dryer, in working with two-tone pictures, was intended to serve as the necessary basis for the processing of colored film which will be taken up next year. In March the Club sponsored the Kodak Photo Exhibit displayed in the library, cafeteria, and attendance office.

Music Appreciation Club

As Andre Kostelanetz raised his baton at Carnegie Hall for the performance of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5, the handful of wide-eyed Prepsters in the balcony heralded the success of the newly established Music Appreciation Club. Later in the year the Brooklyn Academy of Music was to serve as another mecca for our aesthetes. These symphonic excursions developed out of weekly meetings moderated by Brother Alexis, the founder of the Club. Here the classical works of Beethoven and Brahms are studied along with the jazz masterpieces of Goodman and Krupa. The group has made application to the Metropolitan Opera Guild which, at this writing, is still pending. Acceptance would open up a new world of music for the Appreciators.

Power Boat

Under the guidance of Brother Louis, the techniques of Marlin-Spike Seamanship and advanced navigation featured this year's program of studies for the Power Boat Squadron. These studies found practical application aboard the Marian, a 65 feet ship recently acquired from the Army. Besides the usual week-end jaunts, the Squadron took four extended cruises. The first was to Ellis Island; the second, a four day fishing trip to Sheepshead Bay with docking facilities provided by McBurney's Yacht Basin; the third, a six hour hop to Ambrose Light House; and the last, an excursion to, and tour through the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point arranged for the Squadron by Lt. Commander Justin Mahoney.

Acknowledgment came with the annual Publications Conference at Bishop McDonnel High School where the paper was awarded the format trophy. The staff also attended the 34th Columbia Scholastic Press Convention for the first time, and, as usual, the Catholic Press Conference at Fordham. San Fran

A harvest of publication awards again fell to Prep's yearbook, San Fran. Garnered for third consecutive year was the A+rating of the National School Yearbook Association—a rating described as ". . . given rarely, and only to the few books perfect in all details." And for the second consecutive year, the Medalist Award and the Yearbook of Distinction classification were conferred by the Columbia Press Association and the National Catholic Yearbook Association respectively. Leading the San Fran of 1958 was veteran photographer Joe Ponessa whose technical know-how and imagination blossomed in Curriculum informal shots. John McDermott, who drew the cartoons for the Underclassmen Section as well as editing his own Activities Section, ran a close second to Frank Campion, the winner of the New City Award for the outstanding contribution to a scholastic publication.

The sands of a hundred years of time attest to a debt that Franciscans owe to generosity.

At their outset in the year 1858, the Brothers newly arrived from Ireland were housed by the Christian Brother Community on Jay Street. Later in that same year Martin St. Ledger, an apostolic layman who eventually joined the Order as Brother Paul, aided them with the first foundation at 300 Baltic Street. Since these initial charities, countless other benefactors have contributed to the perseverance and extension of Franciscan Education.

May these last pages serve as a token of sincere thanks to all who have made possible a century of Franciscanism in America.
